Dear

Please accept this letter as formal notice of my resignation from the position shown above. My last day of work will be the date given above, which allows for the notice period stated.

Thank you for the opportunity to work here. I have learned a great deal in this role, and I am grateful for the support and guidance I have had from you and from the team.

Between now and my last day I will do everything I can to make the transition smooth. I am happy to finish or hand over my open work, write down how my regular tasks are done, and help train the person who takes over my duties. Please let me know what would be most useful.

I would be grateful if you could confirm the arrangements for my final paycheck, any unused paid time off and my benefits, and let me know where and when I should return company property. My contact details for after I leave are below.

I wish you and everyone here continued success, and I hope we stay in touch.
